Enhancing the transition planning process to improve post school outcomes for youth with disabilities.

The wsti.org and tr4y.org websites give educators, parents, students, and agencies the tools and resources they need to make a measurable impact on the lives of youth with disabilities. The complimentary sites form a vast library of learning and offer high-impact tools to help users navigate to the most appropriate and effective resources based on their transition goals.

Visit www.tr4y.org to:

- Review post high school outcome data at a state and local level.
- Take advantage of exclusive tools designed to benchmark your district against state outcome measures, improve post-school outcomes, and improve transition compliance while steering you towards the best resources to help you improve based on your transition goals.
- Access a growing library of resources that can be shared with youth, families and agencies. Perform advanced searches by resource origin, transition requirements, keywords, and much more.
- Take advantage of NSTTAC evidence-based practices to drive improvement in outcomes across a variety of Indicators.
- Search the comprehensive glossary of transition terms and abbreviations.
- Set up your own My TR4Y Toolbox to catalog your favorite resources, and to save individual and team reports generated from our exclusive tools.
