

Postsecondary Transition Planning for the Paraprofessional

Paraprofessional Impact!

What is the PTP and the Para Role

IEP: Postsecondary Transition Plan (PTP)

With stakeholder input, the Department of Public Instruction has developed a web-based IEP: Postsecondary Transition Plan (PTP) that will assist local educational agencies to document the postsecondary transition requirements with 100% compliance while allowing for individualization to meet student needs. The PTP is the application for collecting Indicator 13 data. Because state law requires transition plans for students with disabilities aged 14 and above, the PTP is used to develop and monitor transition plans for all students with disabilities who need a postsecondary transition plan

- Observations
- Data Collection
- Student information collected informally
- Sharing feedback with student's case manager
- Encouragement and instruction = impact

The screenshot shows the Michigan Department of Public Instruction website. The main content area is titled "WI State Performance Plan (SPP), Indicator #13". Below the title, there is a section for "Postsecondary Transition Planning" with a small image of a group of people. The text describes Indicator 13: "Percent of youth with IEPs aged 16 and above who have a postsecondary transition plan that includes appropriate measurable postsecondary goals that are annually updated and based upon an age appropriate assessment, transition services, including courses of study that reasonably enable the student to meet those postsecondary goals and annual IEP goals related to the student's transition needs. There also must be evidence that the student was invited to the IEP team meeting where transition services are to be discussed and evidence that a representative of any participating agency was invited to the IEP meeting with the prior consent of the parent or student who has reached the age of majority." Below this, there is a link for "Data - District Profiles".

- Creates meaningful transition plans

"I really thought it was excellent that the Transition App was done during summer school and brought back into the classroom in the Fall . It was used to help students plan for the school year and also used to plan for their IEP meeting. Students felt ownership and part of the process. Students also liked to see what was created and shared it with others."
